

Welcome to the Calendar page. If you don't log in, you can see the schedule but you can't change anything. Simply click on any day in the month, or click in the upper corners of the Calendar to change the displayed month. Note that it's a little tricky to select a day in the Calendar, you may have to click a few times to find exactly where to click. When you succeed, the color should change from black to white and the background change to gray. When you select a day, the text in the Topic and Comments fields will change, assuming you select a day that has a blue or red background.

Note, today's background is green.

If you log in as a choir member you can change the Comments, add your own. Simply type in your changes and select the Save Comments button. If you don't see the Save Comments button ( shown below ), you are not properly logged in.

Save Comments

You are logged in as a choir member, and can add Comments. Please select a Date in the Calendar.

When you are done, please select the Logout button. This application presumes that people will not often add comments, please refresh your browser before you make comments, that way it will be unlikely that you don't over-write someone else's comments. If this becomes a problem we can modify the design to only allow 1 person at a time to be logged in.

If you log in as the website owner, you have additional options. You can add other choir members. Simply enter their email address and password and select the Save Login button. If you only want to change their password, you can do that the same way.
